On The Way

A Catechesis on Marriage: Children

Suppose you go to a wedding and at the exchange of vows the bride says to the groom, "I take you to be my husband...but I refuse to have children with you." Now that would be a shocking thing to hear. Most couples desire to see their love embodied in a child, the union of their love. Part of their discernment in dating is whether the other would make a good father or mother. So, we rightly sense that one of the purposes for marriage is the birth of children.

The union of man and woman cannot be fully understood without this purpose. The union of their bodies, by which they give themselves to each other, is designed for the conception and birth of children. The gift-of-self in marriage must include that part of the self that is procreative. Spouses don't fully give themselves to one another if they withhold from or deny to one another the other their capacity to procreate.

So crucial is this dimension of marriage that it's a cause of two other elements, permanence and fidelity. Divorce and infidelity are wrong not only because they violate the full gift-of-self in marriage but also because they do an injustice to children, who have a right to mom and dad together.

But it's not all about the children. The Second Vatican Council teaches, "Children are the supreme gift of marriage and contribute greatly to the good of the parents themselves" (emphasis added). Children contribute to their good not by being convenient or financially beneficial. After all, children are always an inconvenience. They contribute to the good of the parents by calling forth from them sacrifice, love, generosity, patience, and all the other virtues. They are — or should be — a cause of growth in virtue.

Openness to children also strengthens the union of the spouses. Consider the esprit de corps of a military unit when every member of that unit is willing to give his life for every other. Such willingness to sacrifice one's life knits individuals together as a strong fighting force. Well, a similar but more extraordinary thing occurs in marriage. By their openness to life, spouses express their willingness not only to sacrifice their lives for one another but also to bring new life into the world with one another — which is a far greater thing.

Now, what all this means isn't that a couple must have children in order to have a valid marriage. Those couples unable (but not unwilling) to have children of course have true marriages. It's rather that every union of spouses in the marital act must be open to life. Sometimes new life comes about, sometimes it doesn't. The essential point is that the spouses respect the marital act's proper design for procreation. Any frustration of its procreative power (by contraceptive barriers, chemicals, or surgery) is a violation of the truth of marriage. Natural Family Planning, on the other hand, shows that proper reverence for the design of sex. By way of it, couples use the design of the woman's body to discern when and when not to come together.

The union of Christ and the Church is spiritually "procreative." That union of the Bridegroom and the Bride is ordered toward the rebirth of the children of God. "I came so that they might have life and have it more abundantly" (Jn 10:10). By openness to life and even more by generosity with life, couples witness to the life-giving union of Christ and the Church.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

The theme for this year's Bishop's Lenten Appeal is shared with the second preparatory year of our diocesan Golden Jubilee, My Soul Rejoices in the Lord, and draws our attention to our Blessed Mother. Each of us can seek to imitate the perfect example of Mary by proclaiming the greatness of the Lord each day as we live our faith and share our blessings.

When we support the BLA, we help to bring the glorious gift of Christ Jesus to thousands of people in need of spiritual, charitable, and educational assistance across our diocese. I respectfully ask that, if your circumstances allow, you prayerfully consider a sacrificial pledge to this important appeal. Your gift will be used to enrich and improve the lives of others and will be an instrument of the joy and peace that only Christ can give!

I am grateful to all of you who have given in the past to this appeal. In a few moments, your pastor will guide you through the pledging process.

Please be assured of my prayers for you. Through the intercession of Mary our Mother, may Our Lord Jesus bless you abundantly now and always.

Sincerely in Christ,

Most Reverend Michael F. Burbidge
Bishop of Arlington

Dominican Corner

What is a Lay Dominican

The Dominican charism is to contemplate the truth and then share the fruits of contemplation. You could say that Dominicans get to be both Mary and Martha! Prayer and study are two ways of contemplating the truth. How we share the fruits of contemplation is different for each Lay Dominican, depending on time, talent, and circumstances. We strive to increase our love of God and his mercy and become more joyful Christians by sharing it with others.

We invite you to join the St. Mary Magdalene Lay Dominicans on Sunday, February 19th, at 5:00pm in the Parish House to pray with us and taste the Lay Dominican life. For questions, email InquiryVeritas519@gmail.com.
