On The Way

The Seven Last Words: Why have you abandoned me?

The letter to the Hebrews tells us, “[W]e do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who has similarly been tested in every way, yet without sin” (Heb 4:15). The reason the Son of God assumed our human nature was precisely to enter into and sanctify every dimension of human life. He experienced all that we experience: infancy, childhood, adulthood; family, work, and friends; love, sorrow, and joy; life and death.

In his Passion, he experienced every kind of human suffering – physical, spiritual, and emotional: the pain of the beating, scourging, and crucifixion; the agony of abandonment and loneliness; the weight and shame of every sin; and even the feeling of being abandoned by God.

Thus, from the Cross he cried out in a loud voice, “‘Eloi, Eloi, lema sabachthani?’ which is translated, ‘My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?’” (Mk 15:34) This “cry of dereliction” (as it is traditionally called) indicates the depths to which the Son of God descended in his union with us. He experienced even the worst form of human suffering, the feeling of abandonment by God. He drank the chalice of human suffering to the dregs.

In the Person of Jesus Christ, God understands the pain of those who feel abandoned by him. He knows this not only from the outside, as the omniscient God, but also from the inside, as one who experienced it. Now, no one can say that God doesn’t know what it’s like.

At the same time, however, Jesus did not despair. After all, it wouldn’t profit us at all if the Son of God despaired of the Father’s goodness. The whole point of this cry is that he experiences the feeling of being abandoned...but doesn’t give in to it. He rises above the feeling and gives hope to all who are tempted to despair.

The Gospels record this cry in the original Hebrew: Eloi, Eloi, lema sabachthani. Now, Hebrew was for the ancient Jews what Latin is for us, a sacred language, spoken only in prayer and worship. Point is, Jesus wasn’t just crying out. He was praying.

And the entirety of his prayer is indicated by those few words. This shouldn’t be hard for us to grasp. We Catholics typically refer to prayers by their first words: the Our Father, the Hail Mary, the Glory Be. We refer to a particular Mass by the first words of its Entrance Antiphon (or Introit): a Requiem Mass, Laetare Sunday, Gaudete Sunday, etc. So, in his cry of dereliction, Jesus “intones” or begins Psalm 22, and by speaking the Psalm’s first words he indicates its entirety. Further, by intoning this Psalm, he reveals himself as the fulfillment of it. Which means that if we want to understand these words from the Cross, we need to read the entirety of Psalm 22.

It is a Psalm of sorrow that gives voice to our Lord’s Passion: All who see me mock me; they curl their lips and jeer; they shake their heads at me...They have pierced my hands and my feet. I can count all my bones. They stare at me and gloat; they divide my garments among them; for my clothing they cast lots... But it is ultimately a Psalm of victory, rejoicing in God’s fidelity: For he has not spurned or disdained the misery of this poor wretch, did not turn away from me, but heard me when I cried out...

In the end, the cry of dereliction reveals that Christ is with us in our darkest moments and that by his grace we can even then trust in the Father’s love.

– Fr. Scalia

Lenten Meatless Recipes

The Creation Care Ministry is sharing their favorite meatless recipes during Lent. You can find all recipes on the Lent 2024 link on our website.

"Lent"il Vegetarian Shepherd's Pie

Adapted from Mealime. Makes ~8 servings.

2 medium carrots, peeled, and diced
1 medium yellow onion, diced
2 cloves garlic, minced
8 oz white mushrooms, diced
2 Tbsp cooking oil
4 c. vegetable broth, divided
1 tsp dried thyme
1 1/2 c. dried lentils
1 1/2 c. frozen peas
8 Tbsp (1 stick) butter
8 medium yellow potatoes, 1-inch pieces
Salt and black pepper

In a large saucepan with a lid, sauté the carrots in 1 Tbsp cooking oil until carrots begin to soften (4-5 min). Add diced onion and minced garlic, and continue to sauté until onions are translucent (2-3 min). Add another Tbsp of oil and the diced mushrooms; cook 1-2 min. Add the lentils, 3 cups of vegetable broth, and thyme. Bring the mixture to a boil, then reduce the heat to a simmer, cover, and cook until the lentils are tender, approx. 25-30 min. Add the frozen peas and simmer until they are warm.

In a separate pan, add the potatoes and cover them with water, bring to a boil. Reduce the heat to medium, and cook until the potatoes are tender, approximately 15-20 min. Once done, drain the potatoes and return them to the pan. To the pan with potatoes, add 8 Tbsp (1 stick) butter, 1 c. vegetable broth, 1/2 tsp salt, and black pepper to taste. Mash with a potato masher (or fork, for a more penitential experience).

Transfer the lentil mixture to a 9 x 12 baking dish. Top with mashed potatoes and broil on high approximately 5-8 minutes, until slightly browned.

Serve warm.
